

Introduction to Typography

If any of the typefaces below are not available, please replace with alternative ones from the same class.

Serifs - provide 5 serif typefaces:

Garamond premier pro,

Times New Roman,

Avenir Book Oblique,

Baskerville,

Source Serif Variable Bold

Sans-Serifs:

Myriad Pro,

Arial,

Brandon Grotesque,

Verdana,

DIN 2014

Find at least 3 Scripts:

Snell Roundhand

Zapfino

Richman Script Pro

For the examples below, use Slab-Serif

Find 3 Slab-Serifs:

Rockwell

Courier

Museo Slab

Meanline Alignment

Milk 36 pt

Coffee 24 pt

Sugar 14 pt

Baseline Alignment

Milk 36 pt

Coffee 24 pt

Sugar 14 pt

Tracking (tight): DarlingtoniaCalifornica

Tracking (normal): Darlingtonia Californica

Tracking (loose): Darlingtonia Californica

Kerning (manual) - to adjust, click on the space between glyphs:

WAVE

Leading - 10 pt

Darlingtonia Californica

The plant was discovered in 1841 by the botanist William D. Brackenridge at Mount Shasta. In 1853 it was described by John Torrey, who named the genus Darlingtonia after the Philadelphian botanist William Darlington (1782–1863).

Leading - Auto

Darlingtonia Californica

The plant was discovered in 1841 by the botanist William D. Brackenridge at Mount Shasta. In 1853 it was described by John Torrey, who named the genus Darlingtonia after the Philadelphian botanist William Darlington (1782–1863).

Leading - 21 pt

Darlingtonia Californica

The plant was discovered in 1841 by the botanist William D. Brackenridge at Mount Shasta. In 1853 it was described by John Torrey, who named the genus Darlingtonia after the Philadelphian botanist William Darlington (1782–1863).